

BOOK LAUNCH
Wednesday 5 October, 2016

A NEW DAWN FOR A NEW AFRICA

In her new book, award winning Swedish national TV correspondent Erika Bjerström presents an engaging portrait of the African continent that will surprise the reader. Contrary to the message relayed by the media and the aid industry, war, violence and hunger are declining, whilst economic growth and democracy are on the rise. So why are the media and aid organisations keeping Western audiences in the dark about the continent's impressive progress? This question will be discussed by the author at the launching of her book at the Nordic Africa Institute's library.

Iina Soiri, director of NAI, will moderate, and Victor Adetula, head of research, will be discussant. The book launch is open to all. Welcome!

VICTOR ADETULA
Head of Research, The Nordic Africa Institute

ERIKA BJERSTRÖM
Correspondent at SVT, Swedish National TV

IINA SOIRI
Director, The Nordic Africa Institute

TIME: Wednesday 5 October, 2016, 16:00-18:00

VENUE: The Nordic Africa Institute, Villavägen 6, Uppsala

More info at www.nai.uu.se

Nordiska Afrikainstitutet
The Nordic Africa Institute