Sekota has large, usually round stone houses, two-storied, mostly with two walls and a stair outside or between the walls.

Sekota was administrative centre of Wag also in the 1930s.

There were eight wells in or near Sekota town in 1986 and they were opened for some hours every morning but then closed because there was not enough water.

Sekota : Aba Yohanis

The monastery church, reached by an easy climb, is the most majestic in northern Ethiopia. Ten fully preserved cupolas crown it.

Sekota : /Ukre/ Meskele Kristos, "Cross of Christ"

Approaching by an artificial cleft in the rock, one is confronted with the decorative south façade, but the church is not entirely isolated from the rock.
