Very little of the Tis Isat falls can be seen from the right bank of the river, but on the left bank there is a hill that provides a natural grandstand.
About 3 km upstream there is a smaller 7 m waterfall with a pond or lagoon.
Tis Abay consists of four separate streams -- the river is 400 m wide above the waterfall; in the gorge below, it follows a much narrower course that is estimated to be 37 m deep.
